

John Damilakis, PhD

Dr. Damilakis is full professor and chairman at the Department of Medical Physics, Faculty of Medicine, University of Crete and director of the Department of Medical Physics of the University Hospital of Heraklion, Crete, Greece. He is President of the European Alliance for Medical Radiation Protection Research (EURAMED), Vice President and President-elect of the International Organization for Medical Physics (IOMP) and Immediate Past President of the European Federation of Organizations for Medical Physics (EFOMP). Prof. Damilakis is coordinator or an active research member of several European and national projects. His publications have been focused on medical radiation protection and dosimetry. Number of publications in PubMed: 206 (September 29, 2019). Many of these publications are in leading journals such as Medical Physics, Physics in Medicine and Biology, Radiology, Investigative Radiology and European Radiology.